Stage Introduction

Written to be read aloud. About a minute at a comfortable pace.

READ THIS FROM THE STAGE

ABOUT 1 MINUTE

Chester Elton has spent his career helping leaders lead with gratitude. He's a New York Times bestselling author whose books, including Leading with Gratitude and The Carrot Principle, have sold over 1.5 million copies, and he's on the Thinkers50 Coaches50 list.

You'll usually spot him by his orange shirt before you hear his stories. Chester grew up in Alberta, Canada, learning to ice skate around the same time he could walk, before moving to Vancouver and learning to play tennis. He's the husband of the lovely Heidi, father of four wonderful children and four even more wonderful grandchildren. He recently had shoulder surgery so he can get back on the tennis court. He speaks fluent Italian and loves gelato!

Chester co-hosts The Culture Works Podcast, and his new show, The Do-Gooders, is coming soon.

Please join me in welcoming Chester Elton.
